BOERHAVE'S
HOLLAND BITTERS

THE CELEBRATED HOLLAND REMEDY FOR DYSPEPSIA,
DISEASE OF THE KIDNEYS,
LIVER COMPLAINT,
WEAKNESS OF ANY KIND
FEVER AND ACUE,
And the various affections consequent upon a disordered STOMACH OR LIVER,
Such as Indigestion, Acidity of the Stomach, Colicky Pains, Heartburn, Loss of Appetite, Despondency, Costiveness, Blind and Bleeding Piles. In all Nervous, Rheumatic and Neuralgic Affections, it has in numerous instances proved highly beneficial, and in others effected a decided cure.
This is a purely vegetable compound, prepared on strictly scientific principles, after the manner of the celebrated Holland Professor, Boerhave: Because of its great success in the most of the European States, its introduction into the United States was intended more especially for those of our fatherland scattered here and there over the face of this mighty country. Meeting with great success among them, I now offer it to the American public, knowing that its truly wonderful medical virtues must be acknowledged.
It is particularly recommended to those persons whose constitutions may have been impaired by the continuous use of ardent spirits, or other forms of dissipation. Generally instantaneous in effect, it finds its way directly to the seat of life, thrilling and quickening every nerve, raising up the drooping spirit, and, in fact, infusing new health and vigor in the system.
CAUTION.—The great popularity of this delightful remedy has induced many imitations, which the public should guard against purchasing. Be not persuaded to buy anything else until you have given Boerhave's Holland Bitters a fair trial. One bottle will convince you how infinitely superior it is to all these imitations.

The Restorative of Prof. O. J. Wood for Restoring hair perfectly and permanently, has never yet had a rival, volume after volume might be given from all parts of the world and from the most intelligent to prove that it is a perfect Restorative; but read the circular and you cannot doubt; read also the following.

☞ The Hair.—People have for centuries been afflicted with bald heads and the only remedy, heretofore known, has been those abominable wigs. By a recent discovery of Professor Wood these articles are being fast dispensed with, but a great many persons still patronize them, because they have been so often imposed upon by Hair Tonics of different kinds. To all such persons we earnestly make the request, that they will try once again, for in Wood's Restorative there is no such thing as fail. We know of a lady who was bald, who used the article a short time, and her head is now covered completely with the tiniest and most beautiful curls imaginable. We know of numerous cases where hair was rapidly falling out, which it restored in greater perfection than it ever had been before.
It is also without doubt one of the best articles for keeping the hair in good condition, making it soft and glossy, removing dandruff, and has proved itself the greatest enemy to all the ills that hair is heir to.
It is the duty of every one to improve their personal appearance though some may differ in regard to the ways of doing it; but every one will admit that a beautiful head of hair, either in man or woman, is an object much to be desired, and there are no means that should be left untried to obtain such a consideration.—Woman's Advocate, Phila.
Manufactured at Ashtabula, Ashtabula co., Ohio, Nov. 17, 1858.
O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: As I have been engaged in selling your Hair Restorative the last season for one of your local agents (R. M. Hackinson,) and having experienced the beneficial effects of it myself, I would like to obtain an agency for the State of Ohio or some State in the West, should you wish to make such an arrangement, as I am convinced there is nothing equal to it in the United States, for restoring the hair.' I have been engaged in the Drug business for several years, and have sold various preparations for the hair, but have found nothing that restores the secretive organs or invigorates the scalp as well as yours, being fully convinced that your restorative is what you represent it to be, I would like to engage in the sale of it, for I am satisfied it must sell. Yours truly.

PROF. O. J. WOOD & CO.—Gents: Having realized the good effects of your Hair Restorative, I wish to state, that finding my hair growing thin, as well as gray, I was induced from what I read and heard, to try the article prepared by you, to promote its growth and change its color as it was in youth, both of which it has effected completely. In the operation I have used nearly three bottles.

ONLY WAITING.

[A very good Christian who was so poor as to be in an alms house, was asked what he was doing now. He replied "ONLY WAITING."

Only waiting till the shadows
Are a little longer grown;
Only waiting till the glimmer
Of the day's last beam is flown;
Till the night of earth is faded
From the heart once full of day;
Till the stars of heaven are breaking
Through the twilight soft and gray.

Only waiting till the reapers
Have the last sheaf gathered home;
For the summer time is faded,
And the autumn winds have come,
Quickly, reapers, gather quickly
The last ripe hours of my heart,
For the bloom of life is withered,
And I hasten to depart.

Only waiting till the angels
Open wide the mystic gate,
At whose feet I long have lingered,
Weary, poor, and desolate.
Even now I hear the footsteps,
And their voices far away;
If they call me I am waiting,
Only waiting to obey.

Only waiting till the shadows
Are a little longer grown;
Only waiting till the glimmer
Of the day's last dream is flown,
Then from out the gathered darkness,
Holy, deathless stars shall rise,
By whose light my soul shall gladly
Tread its pathway to the skies.

Select Miscellany.

THE POT OF GOLD;
—OR,—
THE WIDOW'S STRATAGEM.

Deacon Bancroft, though a very good man in the main, and looked up to with respect by all the inhabitants of the little village of Centreville, was rumored to have, in Yankee parlance, "a pretty sharp eye to the main chance"—a peculiarity from which deacons are not always exempt.

In worldly matters he was decidedly well to do, having inherited a fine farm from his father, which was growing yearly more valuable. It might be supposed that under these circumstances, the deacon, who was fully able to do so, would have found a help-mate to share his house and name. Matrimony was to him in some measure a matter of money, and it was his firm resolve not to marry unless he could thereby enhance his worldly prosperity. Unhappily the little village of Centreville and the towns in the immediate vicinity contained few who were qualified in this important particular, and of those there were probably none with whom the deacon's suit would have prospered.

So it happened that year after year passed away, until Deacon Bancroft was in the prime of life—forty-five, or thereabouts—and still remained unmarried, and in all human probability likely to remain so.—But in all human calculations of this kind, they reckon ill who leave widows out.

Deacon Bancroft's nearest neighbor was a widow!

The widow Wells, who had passed through one matrimonial experience, was some three or four years younger that D. Bancroft. She was still quite a buxom, comely woman, as widows are apt to be. Unfortunately, the late Mr. Wells had not been able to leave her sufficient to make her independent of the world. All that she possessed, was the small, old-fashioned house in which she lived, and a small amount of money which was insufficient to support her and a little son of seven, likewise to be enumerated in the schedule of her property, though hardly to be classed as productive—of anything but mischief. The widow was therefore obliged to take three or four boarders to eke out her scanty income, which of course imposed upon her considerable anxiety.

Is it surprising that under these circumstances she should now and then have bethought herself of a second marriage as a method of bettering her condition? Or again, need we esteem it a special wonder, if in her reflections upon this point, she should have cast her eyes upon her next door neighbor, Deacon Bancroft? The deacon, as we have already said, was in flourishing circumstances. He would be able to maintain a wife in great comfort; and being one of the chief personages in the village, could accord her a prominent social position. He was not especially handsome, or calculated to make a profound impression upon the female heart—this was true—but he was of a good disposition, kind-hearted, and would no doubt make a very good sort of a husband.—Widows are, I take it, (if any do me the honor to read this story, I trust they will forgive the remark), less disposed to weigh sentiment in a second alliance than a first and so in the widow's point of view, Deacon Bancroft was a very desirable match.

Some sagacious person, however, observed that it takes two to make a match, a fact to be seriously considered; for in the present case it was exceedingly doubtful whether the worthy deacon, even if he had known the favorable opinion of his next neighbor, would have been inclined to propose changing her name to Bancroft, unless, indeed, a suitable motive was brought to bear upon.

Here was a chance for finessing, wherein widows are said, as a general thing, to be expert.

One evening after a day of fatiguing labor, the widow Wells sat at the fire in the sitting room, with her feet resting upon the fender.

"If I am ever so situnted as not to have to work so hard," she murmured, "I shall be happy. It's a hard life, keeping boarders. If I was only as well off as Deacon Bancroft—"

Still the widow kept up her thinking, and by and by her face brightened up. She had an idea which she resolved to put into execution at the earliest practical moment. What it was the reader will discover in the sequel.

"Henry," said she to her son the next morning, "I want you to stop at Deacon Bancroft's as you go to school, and ask him if he will call and see me in the course of the morning or afternoon, just as he finds it most convenient."

Deacon Bancroft was a little surprised at the summons. However, about eleven o'clock he called in. The widow had got on the dinner and had leisure to sit down. She appeared a little embarrassed.

"Henry told me you would like to see me," he commenced.

"Yes, Deacon Bancroft, I do, but I'm very much afraid you will think strange of it—at least, of what I have to say to you."

The deacon very politely promised not to be surprised, though at the same time his curiosity was visibly excited.

"Suppose," said the widow, casting down her eyes—"mind, I am only supposing a case—suppose a person should find a pot full of gold pieces in their cellar, would the law have a right to touch it, or would it belong to the finder?"

The deacon pricked up his ears.

"A pot of gold pieces, widow! Why, unquestionably, the law would have nothing to do with it."

"And the individual who had formerly owned the house, couldn't come forward and claim it, could he, deacon?" inquired the widow, further, with apparent anxiety.

"No, madam, unquestionably not. When the house was disposed of, everything went with it, as a matter of course."

"I am glad to hear it, deacon. You won't think strange of the question, but it having occurred to my mind, and I thought I would like to have it satisfied.

"Certainly, widow, certainly," said the deacon, abstractedly.

"And deacon, as you are here, I hope you will stop to dinner with us. It will be ready punctually at twelve."

"Well, no," said the deacon, rising; "I'm obliged to you; but they'll be expecting me home."

"At any rate, deacon," said the widow, taking a steaming mince pie from the oven, "you won't object to taking a piece of my mince pie. You must know, I rather pride myself on my mince pies."

The warm pie sent forth such a delicious odor that the deacon was sorely tempted, and after saying, "Well, really," with the intention of refusing, he finished by saying, "On the whole, I guess I will, as it looks so nice."

The widow was really a good cook, and the deacon ate with much gusto the generous slice which the widow cut for him, and after a little more chatting upon unimportant subjects, withdrew in some mental perplexity.

Was it possible, thought he, that the widow could really have found a pot of gold in her cellar? She did not say so, to be sure, but why should she have shown so much anxiety to know as to the proprietorship of treasure thus found, if she had not happened upon some? To be sure, so far as his knowledge extended, there was no one who occupied the house who would be likely to lay up such an amount of gold; but then the house was one hundred and fifty years old, at least, and undoubtedly had had many occupants of which he knew nothing. It might be, after all. The widow's earnest desire to have him think it was only curiosity, likewise gave additional probability to the supposition.

"I will wait and watch," thought the deacon.

It so happened that deacon Bancroft was one of the Directors in a Savings Institution, situated in the next town, and accordingly used to ride over there once or twice a month, to attend meetings of the Board.

On the next occasion of this kind, the widow Wells sent over to know if he would carry her over with him, as she had a little business to attend to there.

The request was readily granted. Arriving in the village, Mrs. Wells requested to be set down at the Bank.

"Ha! ha!" thought the deacon; "that means something."

He said nothing, however, but determined to come back, and find out, as he could, readily, from the cashier, what business she had at the bank.

The widow tripped into the office, pretending to look very nonchalent.

"Can you give me small bills for a five dollar gold piece?" she inquired.

"With pleasure," was the reply.

"By the way," said she, "the bank is in quite a flourishing condition, is it not?"

"None in the State on a better footing," was the prompt response.

"You receive deposits, do you not?"

"Yes, madam, we are receiving them every day."

"Do you receive as high as—five thousand dollars?"

"No," said the cashier with some surprise, "or rather we do not allow interest on so large a sum. One thousand dollars is our limit. Did you know of any one who—"

"It is of no consequence," said the widow, hurriedly, "I only asked for curiosity. By the way did you say how much interest you allowed on such deposits as came within your limits?"

"Five per cent. ma'am."

"Thank you, I only asked for curiosity. What a beautiful morning it is?"

And the widow tripped lightly out.—Shortly afterwards the deacon entered.

"How's business, Mr. Cashier?" he inquired.

"About as usual."

"Had any new deposits lately?"

"None of any magnitude."

"I brought over a lady this morning, who seemed to have business with you."

"The widow Wells."

"Yes."

"Do you know," asked the cashier, whether she had any money left her, lately?"

"None that I know of," said the deacon, pricking up his ears. "Why? Did she deposit any?"

"No; but she inquired whether we received deposits as high as five thousand dollars."

"Indeed!" ejaculated the deacon.—"Was that all she came for?" he inquired, a moment afterwards.

"No, she exchanged a gold piece for small bills."

"Ha!" pondered the deacon, reflectively. "Did she give any reason for her inquiries?"

"No, she said she only asked from curiosity."

The deacon left the bank in deep thought. He came to the conclusion that this curiosity only veiled a deeper motive. He no longer entertained a doubt that the widow had found a pot of gold in her cellar, and appearances seemed to indicate that its value was at least equal to five thousand dollars. The gold piece which she had exchanged at the bank appeared to conform this story.

"I rather think," said the deacon, complacently, "I can see into a mill-stone about as far as most people,"—a statement, the literal truth of which I defy any one to question, though as to the prime fact of people's being able to see into a mill-stone at all, doubts have now and then intruded themselves upon my mind.

The next Sunday the Widow Wells appeared at church in a new and stilish bonnet, which led to some remarks like these—

"How much vanity some people have to be sure!"

"How a woman that has to keep boarders for a living can afford to dash out with such a bonnet is more than I can tell! I should think she was old enough to know better."

This last remark was made by a young lady just six months younger than the widow, whose attempts to catch a husband had hitherto proved utterly unavailing.

"I suppose continued the same young lady, "she's trying to catch a second husband with her finery. Before I would condescend to such means I'd—I'd drown myself."

In this last amiable speech the young lady had unwittingly hit upon the true motive. The widow was intent upon catching Deacon Bancroft and she indulged in a costly bonnet, because this would strengthen in his mind the idea that she had stumbled upon hidden wealth.

The widow calculated shrewdly, and the display had the effect she anticipated.

Monday afternoon Deacon Bancroft found an errand that called him over to the widow's. It chanced to be about tea-time. He was importuned to stay at tea, and somewhat to his own surprise, actually did.

The politic widow who knew the deacon's weak point, brought out one of her best mince pies, a slice of which her guest partook of with zest.

"You'll take another piece, I know," said she, persuasively.

"Really, I am ashamed," said the deacon, but he passed his plate. "The fact is," he said apologetically, "your pies are so nice I don't know where to stop."

"Do you call these pies nice?" said the widow, modestly. "I only call them common, I can make mince pies when I set out to, but this time I didn't have such good luck as usual."

"I shouldn't want any better," said the deacon, emphatically.

"Then I hope if you like them, you'll drop into tea often. We ought to be more neighborly, Deacon Bancroft."

Deacon Bancroft assented, and he meant what he said. The fact is, the deacon began to think the widow was very handsome. She was very comely, and then she was such an excellent cook! Besides, he had no doubt in his own mind that she was worth a considerable sum of money. What objection would there be to her becoming Mrs. Bancroft? He brought the subject before her one evening.

The widow blushed—professed to be greatly surprised—in fact she had never thought of the thing in her life—but, on the whole, she had always thought highly of the deacon, and, to cut short the matter, accepted him.

A month afterwards she was installed mistress of the deacon's house, somewhat to the surprise of the village people, who could not conceive how she brought him over.

Some weeks after the ceremony, the deacon ventured to inquire about the pot of gold which she found in her cellar.

"Pot of gold!" she exclaimed, in surprise. "I know of none."

"But," said the deacon, disconcerted, "you know you asked me about whether the law would claim it."

"O, lor'! Deacon, I only asked from curiosity."

"And was that the reason you made the inquiries at the bank."

"Certainly. What else could it be?"

The deacon went out to the barn, and for about an hour sat in silent meditation. At the end of that time he ejaculated, as a closing consideration, "After all, she makes good mince-pies!"

It gives me pleasure to state that the union between the deacon and the widow proved a very happy one, although to the end of his life, he never could quite make up his mind about "The Pot of Gold!"

A Niagara of Fire.

The volcano on the island of Hawaii (one of the Sandwich Islands) has just experienced one of its grandest eruptions.—It commenced on the 23d of January, without any of the usual premonitory symptoms of earthquakes and subterrancan noises, pouring a stream of lava from an opening about 10,000 feet above the level of the sea. The stream of burning lava reached the sea, in the space of five days, flowing forty miles, filling up an immense valley in the mountains and sending off many wide streams. It is supposed that the lava had covered about a thousand square miles of the surface of the island. At Lahaina, a distance of over one hundred miles from the crater, on Saturday night, the 29th of January, the volcano was distinctly visible, illuminating one-third of the heavens like that of an immense and neighboring conflagration; and from elevated positions, it is asserted that the shoots of liquid flame could be seen at intervals, as the immense cauldron "boiled and bubbled." The sea was lighted up with the reflection of the flame everywhere within one hundred miles of the crater, and the coasting vessels enjoyed the advantage without the presence of a full moon. Lots of dead fish were observed floating about in the neighborhood of the islands, both before and since the commencement of the eruption, and the inference is, that they were killed by the submarine fires or heat connected with the volcano.

A party who visited the mountain describes the scene as inexpressively grand; but language cannot be found to convey an adequate conception of its impressiveness. The eruption is on the west side of Mauna Loa, a new crater, estimated at five to eight hundred feet across, having formed there, from which the liquid mass was momentarily ejected in immense jets of a thousand to fifteen hundred feet high, and falling over the sides poured down toward the sea. Before entering the sea it destroyed a native village and a fine grove of cocoanut trees, and pouring into the bay, completely filled up the little harbour of Wainoualai. The inhabitants of the hamlet were aroused at midnight, and had hardly time to escape, leaving their property to destruction. One young explorer of the mountain met with a sad fate, falling down a jagged chasm thirty feet in depth and fatally injuring his spine.

CURE FOR DEPRESSION OF SPIRITS.—When galvanic rings were sold to cure every ill that flesh is heir to, a lady asked of a friend who fondly cherished the delusion, "If galvanic rings would cure depression of spirits?" "What has caused them?" said the latter. "The loss of a husband," mournfully replied the lady.—"For that," said he holding forth his little finger upon which was the wedding ring of his deceased wife, "gold is better. Let me place this upon the third finger of your left hand, and I can warrant a perfect cure."

☞ The following question was recently put by a knot of gents to a newly imported son of the Emerald Isle:

"If the devil should be told he might have one of us, which would he first choose?"

"Why, me, to be sure," responded Pat.

"And why so?"

"Faith, he knows he could get either of ye at any time."

☞ Where parties are unknown to us, our rule for advertising is to require payment in advance, or a guarantee from business persons. It is therefore useless for all such to send us advertisements offering to pay at the end of three or six months. Where advertisements are accompanied with the money, whether one, five or ten dollars, we will give the advertiser the full benefit of cash rates.

Advertising Agents, 119 Nassau street, New York, and 10 State street, Boston, are the Agents for the Altoona Tribune, and the most influential and largest circulating Newspapers in the United States and the Canadas. They are authorized to contract for us at our lowest rates.

☞ The want of attention to our paper for the last couple of weeks, must be attributed to the fact that we have been considerably crowded with job work, (the printers' harvest,) but as we now have the greater portion of it off our hands, we will be able to give our usual time to local and general affairs hereafter.

MIRACULOUS ESCAPE.—We learn from the Johnstown Tribune, of Saturday last, that a lady named Andrews, of that place, made a most miraculous escape from death by poisoning, on Thursday previous. She had came to the house of her mother, who had died shortly previous, and feeling unwell, sought something in the way of medicine to relieve her. Finding a bottle, she placed it to her nose and found it smelled of ether, and this was what she wanted. Without investigating, she swallowed a spoonful of the liquid, but instantly discovering her mistake she turned the bottle and found it labelled "Bug Poison." A physician was immediately called in, who administered powerful emetics and antidotes which dislodged the poison in about fifteen minutes and thus saved her life. She is now quite well but badly salivated from the effects of the medicine administered.

AUDITOR GENERAL.—We notice a communication in the last number of the Hollidaysburg Register, recommending Hon. Andrew Gregg, of Centre county, as a suitable candidate to be placed in nomination, by the Peoples' Convention, for the office of Auditor General. Col. Gregg is one of the most popular men in the opposition party in the State, honest and straightforward in all his actions, and possessing the requisite qualifications to fill with satisfaction to the people, and credit to himself, the responsible position for which he is named. On the score of services to his party he is justly entitled to the nomination, and it would be no more than an act of justice, as well as a guarantee of success, to nominate him by acclamation.

☞ The great billiard match, of 2,000 points, for $5,000 a side, between Phelan, of New York, and Seereiter, of Detroit, came off at Detroit, on Wednesday evening of last week. The match was won by Phelan, of New York, by 96 points. The highest run, 157 points was made by Seereiter. The highest run made by Phelan was 129 points.

BOATMEN ON A STRIKE.—The Huntingdon American of last week, states that the coal boatmen at that place were on a strike for higher rates on coal shipped from that point. A few of the shippers were in favor of complying with the demands of the boatmen; but others who had taken contracts at low figures, held out against it.

STATE SENATE.—One-third of the members of the Senate, in this State, retire each year; two-thirds, or twenty-two, holding over. This year the political complexion of those holding over are eleven Democrats and eleven Opposition. Six Democrats and five Opposition retire.

THE SICKLES CASE.—No verdict yet. Fifteen days have already been consumed in this trial, and half that many more may yet be consumed ere it goes to the jury, in whose hands it may remain for as many more, if there be any difference of opinion.

CHANGE.—We notice that Dr. Bonner has retired from the Montour American and is succeeded by Geo. B. Ayers, of Harrisburg, who has changed the name of the paper to that of Montour Hearld.

☞ The Erie City Dispatch has been enlarged to a seven column paper. The editor deserves success, and we hope that this increase in expenditures may be fully made up to him by an increase of patronage.

PETERSONS' CHEAP EDITION OF WAVERLY NOVELS.—We have this day received ROB ROY, by Sir Walter Scott, being the third volume of T. B. Peterson & Brothers' new and cheap weekly issue of the Waverley Novels, by Sir Walter Scott. Giving truthful delineations of people, character and manners—ever upholding the cause of religion, morality and virtue, they should be welcome at every fireside where these precepts are taught. The great barrier, heretofore, to the introduction of these works, has been the high price at which they have been held, but this objection is being now overcome, by the publication of the works of Scott in such a form and at such a low price as to bring them within the means of all persons whatever. To Messrs. T. B. PETERSON & BROTHERS, of Philadelphia, more than all other publishers are we indebted for this new feature in American literature. The works of CHAS. DICKENS, CHAS. LEVER, MRS. SOUTHWORTH, and many other popular writers, have been issued from their press in a cheap form, and their last enterprise is in giving to the public, the works of Sir WALTER SCOTT, complete and unabridged, at the very low price of 25 cents for each work, or the whole series for Five Dollars. The edition embraces the whole of the author's works, and will be contained in 26 volumes, one of which will be issued on each succeeding Saturday, until complete. A full set will be forwarded, free of Postage, by Mail, to any part of the United States, to any one, by the publishers, on sending a remittance of five dollars to them, for the twenty-six volumes. At this low price, all persons should possess themselves of a sett, and we would take this occasion to advise all of our readers to make a remittance of Five Dollars at once, per first mail, to T. B. Peterson & Brothers, Philadelphia, for the entire sett, who will send them complete to any one, free of postage, on receipt of that sum.

The Poor House.

POOR HOUSE, April 20, 1859.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—I notice in your last number another communication from "Mr. Tax Payer" referring to the Poor House account.—In the former communication of "Mr Tax Payer," I was at a loss to know what he meant, but in his last, it is plainly to be seen, that it is a personal attack on me. He says that he referred to my report and found the admitted during the year 1858, were 72, dismissed 52, eloped 4, and deaths 13. He infers from that, that there were very few in the house, and that I charged for the support of the dismissed, eloped and the dead. He says if this statement is true how many would remain, &c. From these references it appears he does not understand the monthly report. He has forgotten that there were 65 paupers in the poor house on the first day of January, 1858. He appears to be very anxious to know how I get the 611 paupers. By referring to the monthly report, it will be seen that the total number is carried out each month, and by dividing it at the end of the year makes 611, and by dividing by 12, we get the average number per month. He also states that I have omitted the profits of the Ten Thousand Dollar Farm. We feed ourselves, the Poor of Blair county, and the farm stock from the products of the farm, and if there is anything left it is sold for the best price that we can get for it, and the money is applied for the use of the institution. As to the many articles traded off, whatever exchanges were made are justly set forth in my report. If Mr. "Tax Payer" has any more to say I request him to give his real name. E. McGRAW.

INDIANS LIVING ON THE SAP OF PINE.—During a hard winter in Northern California, the miserable Indians are frequently driven to the most terrible straits for food; and in order to keep from starving, they sometimes partake of unsavory dishes. Late in the winter, or rather early in the spring, their article of subsistence is the sap of the white pine, (the sugar pine.) To obtain this they strip the bark from the body of the tree, scrape the inner surface with sharp stones, and in this they gather a sort of mucilage or sap, (pine sugar,) which they devour with great relish. By this means thousands of splendid trees are annually destroyed in the dense forests of Siskiyou and Shasta. The bark is usually stripped entirely off to the hight of twenty or thirty feet. Upon the naked surface of the trunk, immense quantities of pitch will exude, and whenever the woods are set on fire—which is not an unfrequent occurrence—these pitch covered trees make the grandest bonfire ever witnessed.

INNOCENCE OF BILLIARDS.—On Saturday evening last, Mr. Phelan and his friends gave an exhibition of their skill to the ladies of Detroit, who attended in large numbers. Phelan and Tiemann were the principal players. Before opening the game it was stated by Mayor Terry, on behalf of Mr. Phelan, that the players did not intend to try what long runs they could make, or anything of that kind, but that the exhibition was given, more to satisfy the women of Detroit, that in the game of billiards itself there was nothing to affect the most fastidious, but on the contrary, that it was a game fully as scientific as chess, requiring an accurate knowledge of the angles of the table, delicacy of touch, good judgement as to the place to strike the balls, and the particular degree of force by which they should be propelled. The exercise was not only excellent for the mental, but also for the physical powers. The audience were much pleased with the performance.

ENDURANCE OF HORSES.—Some curious experiments have been made at the vetinary school at Alfort, (just outside Paris), by order of the Minister of War, to ascertain the endurance of horses, as in a besieged town, for example. It appears a horse will live on water alone five-and-twenty days; seventeen days without eating or drinking; only five days if fed but unwatered; ten days if fed and sufficiently watered. A horse kept without water for three days drank one hundred and four pounds of water in three minutes. It was found, too, that a horse taken immediately from "feed" and kept in the active exercise of the "squadroon school," completely digested its "feed" in three hours, in the same time in the "conscript's school" its food was two-thirds digested; and if kept perfectly quiet in the stable, its digestion was scarcely commenced in three hours.

☞ A Mistake.—In a church (not quite a hundred miles from here) a person entered a pew, and, believing he had a good seat, unfortunately set down upon the dress of a lady who happened to be rather highly crinolined. In an instant he rose to his feet, and begged the lady's pardon in these words: "Yere pardon, mem, but I'm fear'd I've broken your umbrella." "Nothing wrong," said the lady, blushing.

An "Ugly Cuss."

A California paper walks into an unwelcome correspondent in the following rough-shod style:

"We have received a communication, intended to damage a neighbor, which the writer tries to bribe us to publish, by promising to subscribe for the paper, on condition of his miserable article appearing. We've half a mind, you cowardly villain, to tell your name, and print the article, and get you a famous drubbing.—We'll instruct you that you have deplorably mistaken the character of the journal by which you would diffuse your assassin-like poison.—Havn't you courage to confront your enemy and tell him what you skulking anonymously would print of him? You're one of the "grumblers," are you? You'd grumble at the postmaster, priest, President, at God Almighty himself, if you were not afraid of being eternally burned for it. You'd bribe the village paper, which should be a messenger of peace, to stir up quarrel and dissension in a neighborhood. You'd cause a faithful wife to shed tears of mortification by multiplying a lie about her husband!—Oh, you're a beautiful specimen of the Creator's handiwork! Let's look at you: Six feet high; dark hair; thick full beard; downcast eye; cadaverous jaws; visage like a fellow who had been buried long enough to let humanity and manhood out of him—you look just like the man who would put a widow woman "in the papers," and abscond and leave the editor to a tar-and-feathering. We'll tell you what to do: Find a three-story warehouse; crawl along the ridge-pole, discover a big flat rock, on a line dropped from the termination; turn your moccasins up to the sun, and let yourself go—the discovery of your brains on the rock below, will be conclusive and gratifying evidence that a nuisance has been abated."

FAVORITISM IN THE POST OFFICE DEPARTMENT—The sending by mail of ambrotypes, daguerreotypes and photographs is permitted upon the payment of letter postage. To enclose one in a newspaper, paying only newspaper postage, is a violation of the law, and subjects the offender to a penalty of $5. The General Post Office, the other day, received a return package marked and postpaid "newspaper," directed to a town in Illinois, containing the Waverly Magazine of March 26th, printed in Boston, enclosing an ampротype, with a very pretty note, of a beautiful young girl, directed to a Mr. E. A. S., of the town aforesaid. The note was marked by a style of singular good heart and propriety; and the recipient, whoever he may be, cannot fail, if he have the heart and chivalry of a man, to cherish it during all time. Upon consultation, the Department did not impose the fine, for the reason that so much youth, beauty and propriety as her note evinces, and as her ambrotype exquisitely confirms, could never intend a violation of the statute. It was forwarded to the Illinois post office with simple orders to collect the difference of postage. In passing through the circumlocutions of the Department, the ambrotype of "Julia" received the emphatic lip joining of all the unmarried clerks.—Washington Star, 11th.

A SERMON OF MODERATION.—A Scotch parson once preached a long sermon against dram-drinking, a vice prevalent in his parish, and from which, report said he was not free himself. "Whatever ye do, brethren, do it with moderation, and above all be moderate in dram-drinking. When you got up, indeed, ye may take a dram, and another before breakfast, and perhaps another after; but dinna be always dram-drinking. If ye are out in the moru, ye may just brace yourself up with anither dram, and perhaps take anither before luncheon, and some, I fear, take one after which is not so very blamable; but dinna be always dram-dramming away. Nasbody can scruple for one just before dinner, and when the desert is brought in, an' after it's ta'en away; and perhaps ane, or it may be twa, in the course of the afternoon, just to keep you fra drowsying and snozzling; but dinna be always dram-dram-dramming. Afore tea and after tea, and between tea and supper, and before and after supper, is no more than right and good; but let me caution ye, brethren, not to be always dram-dramming. Just when ye start for bed, and when ye're ready to pop into't, and perhaps, when ye wake in the night, to take a dram or twa is no more than a Christian may lawfully do; but, brethren, let me caution you not to drink more than I've mentioned, or maybe we may pass the bounds of moderation."

ALMOST A FATAL BAPTISM.—On Sunday, the 19th ult., a young lady, Miss Sallie Cummings, was baptised in the Susquehanna river, at Selinsgrove. The Times says:—"A great many persons had gathered upon the bank of the river to witness the ceremony, which, very unfortunately, almost proved fatal to the lady and the gentleman, who performed the ceremony.—The river being high, in consequence of the rains, the water at this point was very deep and rapid; and owing to an inexcusable degree of imprudence or ignorance on the part of the person administering the ordinance, both were carried away by the force of the current. There was a great excitement for a moment and the preacher called for a boat, when Mr. Holmes a very tall and stout man, rushed into the river and seized Mr. Hay, the minister, by the arm, thus, no doubt, saving them from a watery grave; for had the current been allowed to carry them one yard further down, they would have reached a point in the river too deep to touch bottom, and we would not have given one fig for the life of either; for Miss Cummings, all this while, was certainly unconscious of what was transpiring and how deep she was in the Jordan of death."

EMBARRASSING INCIDENT.—The tribe of Winnebago Indians who passed through Wheeling recently, stopped at the Juniata House, Washington city. One pleasant evening they had a war dance on the portico of the house. Hundreds of ladies and gentlemen collected to see the Injuns "jumping Jim Crow." One old cooder of them, as his spirit waxed warm with the excitement of the occasion, suddenly dropped the blanket that he had held up around his haunches, which act served as the signal for the instant dispersion of most of the female portion of the moth'y crowd standing gaping below.—The old fellow, and his brother red-skins, seemed to enjoy the result of his practical joke amazingly. When the embarrassing incident of the entertainment occurred—which, by the by, not being down in the bills, was quite unexpected to those not au fait in Indian dances—the yahyahs! of the colored damsels, as they vamosed the ranch, rang clear and loud above the whowhos and you-yous of their coppor-colored brethren.

☞ A short time since, John Van Buren and other dignitaries were having a good time over their wine and walnuts at a famous boarding-house in this City, when the landlady—a plump, rosy widow—came into the room.—"Madam, what are your politics?" inquired one of the party. "I am a straight-out Silver-Gray Whig," she replied. "Look at her closely, gentlemen," remarked the Prince, "for I assure you the male species of that "animal is entirely extinct."

☞ An enterprising book selling firm announced the commencement of their business in New York on the 22d, by firing guns in the Park. Great numbers of excited New Yorkers rushed to the Park to ascertain what had broken loose, and only found, to their utter chagrin, that a new book selling concern had opened its doors that day. No little indignation is expressed by the political press at this purely commercial desecration of the thunder sacred to election returns.

THE ROTHSCHILD BRIDAL DINNER.—The Paris correspondent of the Literary Gazette says:—

A great event in the beau monde of this place has been the Rothschild marriage. The magnificence was beyond all description, and it would appear that spendorrs, vieing with those recounted in the Arabian Nights, were lavished upon an entertainment to which no body was admitted. I mean the dinner given after the nuptial ceremony, and at which some sixty or seventy Rothschilds alone were present. As no one but the family were present at this faucion—as the Spaniards entitled their bull fights and other amusements—of course the feminine public curiosity has been immeasurably excited by it, and every young male Rothschild has been cross-examined by the fair ladies of Paris, ever since, in order that they may arrive at an approximate knowledge of the "festeve scene."—It seems that all the plate of all the houses of Rothschilds nearly, was forthcoming for this banquet—at least the Kondon chief sent his dinner service over to his cousin of Paris, and the entire changes of the more than three score guests were made in silver and silver-gilt; plates, dishes, everything, were of the precious metals, as at the royal tables, only at desserts was perceived the priceless service of old Sevres, belonging to the Paris pater familias, and whereof each plate represents somewhere about a king's ransom. As to the vivands on the table, they came from every country and every clime; they were swallows' nests from China, sterlets (a fish of excessive high price in Rusia, of the size of salmon, and of fat, orange-colored flesh) from Russia, reed birds and canvass back ducks from America, buzzards from Spain, pheasants from Bohemia, entrees of Peacocks' brains, fillets of buffalo hump, and—one of my lady informants declares—salmis of Brazilian parrots!

Every salt or fresh water has yielded up its fish; every moor, marsh and forest its fowl; every hotbed heated by fire or the sun its fruit; and every grape that ever hung anywhere its wine. As to the flowers with which the table and dining room were ornamented, it is affirmed that there were 1,500 pounds worth. (I mean £1,500 English!) All the windows were covered with trellis work, over which were framed the choicest creeping plants of the tropics, shedding their luscious perfumes all around. If the repast was worthy of an Emperor of a century ago, the tribe of Rothschild seems to have been worthy of it, and to have done it due honor.—In the first place, it is affirmed that the ladies present wore upon their persons between twenty and thirty millions of francs' worth of jewels, and in the way of doing honor to the banquet, those who partook of it sat at the table from 6 to midnight.

☞ In Cincinnati, on Thursday evening last, a boy named Thomas Welsh, about ten years of age, was shot in the forehead by a companion, and instantly killed. It appears that several boys were at play, when one of them drew a pistol and playfully pointed it at young Welsh, who dodged about a little, when the pistol went off and the ball entered his forehead. The wounded boy staggered for an instant, fell to the ground, and expired in a few minutes. The dead body of the lad was carried home to his parents, and when the police arrived, another lad named Cady was pointed out by some of the other boys as the one who fired the pistol, and he was taken into custody and locked up in the station-house. The boy told a very frank, artless story about the accident—for an accident it undoubtedly was—but denied emphatically that he fired the pistol or had it in his hands. He named the lad, however, who did commit the fatal act, which young Cady attributed entirely to carelessness, and not design. Subsequently James Smith, who actually fired the pistol, gave himself up to the officers, and frankly confessed the act, exonerating young Cady. As soon as the wounded boy fell to the ground, he knelt by his side, and said "Don't cry Tommy, I didn't mean to hurt you;" but seeing the blood flow freely, became frightened, and started off on the run. He crossed the river, and went immediately to the house of an uncle in Newport, where he fell down exhausted, and fainted. When he recovered, he related what had taken place, and was advised by his aunt to return and have the unfortunate affair investigated.—He concluded to do so, and was on his way back when met by the officers. He was overwhelmed with grief when he learned that his little playfellow was dead, and protested that he was only playing with him when the fatal shot was given.

THE BEECHER FAMILY.—The family of Rev. Dr. Lyman Beecher, residing in different parts of the country, came together during the early part of this week, at the house of Rev. Henry W. Beecher, in Brooklyn, for a family reunion and visit to their father, who has now reached the 84th year of his age. All the children were present except James, who is now in Hong Kong. Their names, in the order of their ages, are as follows: Miss Catharine Beecher, of Hartford; Rev. William Henry Beecher, of North Brookfield, Mass.; Rev. Dr. Edward Beecher, of Galesburg, Ill.; Mrs. Mary F. Perkins, of Hartford, Ct.; Mrs. Harriet Beecher Stowe, of Andover, Mass.; Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, of Brooklyn; Rev. Charles Beecher, of Georgetown, Mass.; Mrs. Isabella Hooker, of Hartford, Ct.; Rev. Thomas K. Beecher, of Elmira, N. Y.—The absent son, Rev. James C. Beecher, is the youngest of the children. So large a family gathering, occurring at a period after the youngest has reached the prime of life, the original circle at the same time remaining so unbroken, is seldom witnessed in any family. The health of Dr. Beecher is still good.—Independent.

A NEW "HOOP" DISEASE.—A new disease has made its appearance since the introduction of hoops. It exhibits itself only in cold weather, and then is only discoverable in cities where the buildings are warmed with furnaces. Two ladies were standing over a register the other day, talking and laughing, when one endeavored to sit, was suddenly attacked and screamed violently. The other soon also tried to sit, and was attacked in the same manner. The explanation is that standing so long over the register, their metalic hoops became heated to such a degree that when they attempted to be seated, it was like sitting on a hot gridiron. Of course they were not a great length of time in getting up again, and naturally uttered screams—all of which would be very mysterious to a looker on, unacquainted with the mysteries of hoops.

DISTRESSING ACCIDENT.—On Tuesday night last, we are informed, the house of Mr. Enoch Reese, of Cambria county, some six miles on this side of Ebensburg, on the turnpike, was burned to the ground, and a young man in it. We did not learn his name, but were informed that he was a stranger, who was moving, and had stopped there for the night. The fire originated from some ashes, which had been placed in a barrel outside of the house, and having fire in them caused the accident. The house was a frame one and everything was lost; the inmates that did escape having barely time to do so.

☞ A young man named George W. Loxter, in Cincinnati, died a day or two since of lock-jaw. About a month since, while walking in his yard, a nail ran through his boot into his foot, causing much pain, but on the application of certain lotions became quite easy. He was somewhat lamed, but thought himself recovered until he set his foot down suddenly one day, when his whole system quivered, and his jaws closed like a vice, never again to open. Every possible effort had been made in vain to save him, and his best friends were grateful when he breathed his last, and his agony was over.

AN AFFECTIONATE WIFE.—A ludicrous attempt to murder a husband, which recently occurred in Halifax, England, is thus related:—

"A certain woman felt her spouse an incumbrance, and applied to the druggist of the village for sixpenny worth of arsenic. He very properly refused, and informed her husband, at the same time inquiring of him for what purpose his wife could require it. The husband told the druggist that if she applied again he must sell her some harmless article in lieu of the arsenic, and they would see what her objects were. She did apply again, and the wary apothecary delivered her some carbonic soda, telling her husband of what had occurred. When he went home, he found a meat pie prepared for dinner, he pretended at first want of appetite, and invited her to help herself. She refused, and at last he ate a quantity of the pie. In a little while he professed himself unwell then feigned thrist, then alarming sickness, and finally death.

The treacherous woman manifested great concern during these proceedings; but the instant death appeared to have occurred, she passed a rope through the chamber floor, and knit it to her husband's neck, in order that when the neighbors were called in he might appear to have hanged himself. She then ran up stairs to draw up and fix the rope. The instant she had disappeared, the dead man revived, released himself of the rope, and passed it around the leg of the table, and the woman hung that useful and domestic article instead of the other one, the husband. The latter also ran up stairs, inquiring of the faithless woman "what she was after drawing the table up in that way?" The affair has ended for the present, in his, as the phrase is, taking the law in his own hands. He has given her, as the Yorkshire folks say, "a right down good hiding."

☞ The skeleton of a giant, eight feet high, has been exhumed from the farm of Mr. Colvin, near Monongahela city, Pa. The Pittsburgh Chronicle says:—"From the position of the bones in the vault under the stone, it is supposed the bodies were buried in a sitting position, the skull bones and those of the trunk being all in a heap, while those of the legs were scattered along towards the foot of the vault. At the foot, also, of many of those graves were found various articles of ornaments of exquisite workmanship, denoting a greater skill than usually belonged to the Indians, together with crockery and warlike implements. The graves in the vicinity number several hundred and go to show that the field was at one time an extensive burying ground."

☞ A desperate battle has been fought in Texas between a few Texan Rangers and a large body of Camanches. A dispatch from New Orleans says:—Information received here from the north of Texas states that Captain Ford's company of Texan Rangers, numbering forty-seven men, encountered a body of Indians, and were soon afterwards surrounded by eight hundred of them. The Indians demanded that the Texans should surrender, which was refused, whereupon a desperate battle ensued.—Captain Ford and four of his men cut their way through the Indians and escaped. The greatest excitement exists among the people residing on the frontier, and large companies will proceed in search of the Indians.

METHODISTS EXPELLED.—The Texas papers give particulars of the proceedings of several meetings recently held in Fanin county, for the purpose of taking measures to expel the members of the Methodist Church North, who are accused of being abolitionists. At one meeting a committee of fifty was appointed to wait on Bishop Janye with a warning. They performed their duty on a Sunday, while the Bishop was engaged in the morning service in the church. It was also resolved that the Methodist Church North could not be tolerated in Texas, and that it must be put down if necessary. A committee was appointed to draft other resolutions, to be acted upon at an adjourned meeting.

BUSINESS LEFT UNDONE.—At the adjournment of the last Congress, in the Senate one hundred and fifty bills of a public nature, and more than one hundred relating to private claims, were permitted to fall to the ground for want of time to pass upon their merits by either affirming or rejecting them. In the House of Representatives there were left upon the calendar more than two hundred and sixty bills, which had been matured and reported by the several standing committees, but which failed to receive definite consideration at the hands of that body.

A MAN CONVERTED INTO A CANDLE.—In Cincinnati, a few weeks since, a man fell headforemost through a hatchway in a warehouse, a distance of fifteen feet, striking a barrel of lard, and forcing his cranium through the head of the barrel into the grease, burying him to the depth of two feet, and leaving his legs sticking up in the air. Before he could suffocate he was drawn out, looking like a mammoth candle with a double wick.

THE ARMY FULL.—The War Department has issued orders, discontinuing the recruiting service throughout the United States. The ranks of the army are now not only full for the first time in twenty years, but there is a considerable surplus of recruits from which to fill future vacancies.

☞ Both branches of the Ohio Legislature have passed a bill to prevent persons, in whole or in part of negro descent, voting at State, county, or city elections.

☞ Mr James A. Falkes, of Warren county, Miss., was killed on Saturday week by the accidental discharge of a gun in the hands of his nephew, Warren Bolls.

☞ The Supreme Court of this State has decided that an orphan is a fatherless child—it making no difference whether the mother is alive or not.

☞ One of the late candidates for the U. S. Senatorship in New Jersy, it is said, remarked "that the present was the highest priced Legislature he ever had dealings with."

SARCASTIC.—The editor of the New Hampshire Democrat says that he is sure that he knows himself. If he does, says Pumpkin, he knows about the meanest man in New Hampshire.

☞ Several small children were playing about an open door at Lafayette, Ind., when one, a child named Baker, thrust his tongue in the crevice, when another shut the door, and it was completely severed.

☞ Killed by Hartshorn.—A little child of George Royer, in Brush Valley, Huntingdon county, was killed by a dose of Hartshorn which an elder lad gave it, of course without being aware of its effects, the other day.

☞ A Lawrence paper says that a clergyman in that city, during services at his church on a recent evening, fell into so sound a sleep that it was found necessary for one of his congregation to shake him in order to wake him at the close of the services.

☞ The valuation of the newspaper establishments of Boston, as shown by the Assessor's books for the present year in as follows: Journal, $40,000; Hearld, 40,000; Transcript, $30,000; Traveller, $20,000; Post, $17,500; Advertiser, $15,000.

TRIPLETS.—A woman residiug near Johnstown, recently gave birth to three fine, healthy children. She had not borne children for several years, and being far advanced in life has astonished the dames of the entire neighborhood.

INUNDATIONS.—Again the inhabitants of the Mississippi Valley are threatened with terrific inundations—the "Father of Waters" having got high, and burst his bounds in several places flooding plantations, sweeping off houses, drowning stock, and "raising Ned" generally. Several dangerous "crevasses," or breaks in the artificial embankments on each side of the river have taken place, and the water rushing through these openings is rapidly flooding the whole of the lower lands intended to be protected by these earthworks.

LOCAL ITEMS.

ALTOONA GAS AND WATER COMPANY.—The Commissioners appointed to open the books of this Company, met at the Logan House on Monday last and attended to that part of their duty. They will be in attendance at the same place every evening this week, between the hours of 7 and 8 o'clock, to receive subscriptions to the Capital stock. Now let there be no holding off on the part of our citizens, but let all who feel themselves able to take stock, if it be but a single share, come forward and subscribe at once, in order that the work may be put under contract as early as possible. The shares are $20 each, to be paid in instalments of $2 00 per share per month. There are few persons in the town who could not take one or more shares.—That the stock will pay has long since been fully demonstrated. Although the proceeds of a single share of stock would be small, even did it pay 15 or 20 per cent, yet it must be remembered that such stock can always be sold at its full value, and by paying for a share in small instalments it will be about the same as placing that much money in a savings institution, the whole of which can be drawn out at any time with interest. We hope to see our citizens enter into the enterprise as though they were determined to put it through, and that as soon as possible. The works will be completed, and will pay when completed, and we would rather see our citizens have the benefit of them, pecuniarily as well as domestically, than monied men from a distance.

DR. J. M. GEMMILL.—The Huntingdon Globe pays the following high compliment to the gentleman whose name heads this article, who has associated himself with Dr. D. R. Good, in this place, to be the successor of Dr. C. J. Hirst:—

DR. J. M. GEMMILL.—Dr. J. M. Gemmill, a practising physician of the borough of Alexandria and vicinity for over twenty-five years, has removed to Altoona, and associated himself with Dr. D. R. Good, there to continue to labor in that field, to which he has been so devotedly attached for so many years. We understand that the people, among whom he has been going about doing good so long, are very unwilling to lose him; and we doubt not, that the removal of Dr. Gemmill from Alexandria will be seriously felt and regretted by his former friends, who so properly appreciated his worth as a physician, as a citizen, and as a man.

We would add that we were not a little surprised to hear of the Doctor's removal from the place where he had labored so faithfully and successfully for so many years, where he stood at the head of his profession, and where he was beloved for so many acts of usefulness and kindness.

We wish the Doctor success in his new association with Dr. D. R. Good, and hope that still a wider field of usefulness will be opened unto him, for his own benefit as well as that of his fellow-men.

SHOES FOR WOUNDS.—A correspondent of the Country Gentleman, mentions a case of a horse, which was just ready to die of an old and festered wound. Fortunately, he adds, at this stage of the case, an old Pennsylvania teamster came to our relief and recommended smoking with old shoes. The smoke was made of old shoes, soles and all, cut in pieces, in a hog trough, and placed under the swollen parts. In a few hours the swelling subsided, and the sore commenced discharging matter; the horse was saved.

In the same year I cut my foot with an axe. The lady of the house seized the foot when it was bleeding freely, held it over a pail containing locks. In a few minutes the bleeding stopped, and the smoke was removed, and a bandage applied to protect it from accidental blows.—The wound never mattered, and consequently never pained me. I have seen this remedy tried in many similar cases, and always with the same results. Let the reader bear in mind that no liniment or salve, drawing or healing should be applied. You have merely to smoke the wound well, and nature will do the rest.

FAST TIME.—The Pittsburg Dispatch, in noting the fast Railroad time lately made, says that the roads competing with the New York Central in reaching Chicago, have to make every minute "tell," and we have already recorded some of the quickest time ever made on any road. On the Pennsylvania Central one train gets passengers through from Philadelphia to Pitsburg in twelve hours. The Fort Wayne Republican mentions that J. Q. Bisbron, conductor on the P. Ft. W. & C. R. R., runs through from that city to Chicago, (a distance of one hundred and fifty miles) in four hours and fifty-seven minutes, making in all twenty-one stops. The Cleveland Review states that, on Tuesday, the engine on the Cleveland & Pittsburg R. R., "New Philadelphia," Engineer Chas. Clarke, made the time between Wellsville and Cleveland, (a distance of one hundred and three miles,) in three hours, including nine stops! in one instance, two miles, between Hanover and Boyard, were made in forty-five seconds each.

RAILROAD ACCIDENT.—The body of Joseph S. Lewis, of Pittsburgh, was found a short distance east of Derry station, on the Pa. R. R., in Westmoreland county, on the 13th inst. It appears that the deceased had been to Philadelphia and was on his way home. He had come as far as this place on one train and stopped until the arrival of the next, on which he took passage as far as Derry Station. An inquest was held on the body by Esquire Pershing, and a verdict returned that the deceased, being partially deranged, either leaped or fell from the train, falling on some split stone lying near the track, bruising his face, breaking his skull and causing other injuries which produced instant death.

DRAMATIC ASSOCIATION.—The entertainments of this Association, on Friday and Saturday evenings last, were well attended, and the young men acquitted themselves, as we predicted, in a creditable manner, exhibiting a degree of perfection not to be attained without close application to, and a perfect knowledge of the business.

Mr. Phonography taught without extra charge, at the Iron City College, Pittsburg, Pa. Students paying for a Full Commercial Course at this Institution, have the privilege of acquiring Writing, Book, Actual Business, also, for one of the entire course.

COUGHING IN CHURCH.—Hundreds of persons destroy the interest of a whole congregation, by a continual coughing and sneezing, when in church, and frequently interrupt the preacher in his sermon, by a long bark, as unbecoming as it is dangerous to the health of the person himself. This need not be. DR. KEYSER, of Pittsburg, has prepared a medicine, which although you can't carry it in pocket, if you will take a dose before going to church, will allay all tickling and irritation of the lungs, and by a perseverance in its use for a day or two, will entirely cure the disease. So, don't cough any more in church; think of Dr. Keyser and his Pectoral; open your heart strings and purse strings, and you will be a better and happier man, and not be looked upon as one who annoys your neighbors. You can get it at G. W. Kessler's, Altoona, Pa.

BAD BUGS.—As the season for bugs approaches it will be well to bear in mind the advice of the "Country Gentleman." Persons not desirous of being carried out of this world by bugs will be glad to learn that they can't stand hot alum water. Take two pounds of alum, bruise it nearly to powder; dissolve it in three quarts of boiling water, letting it remain in a warm place till the alum is dissolved. The alum water is to be applied hot, by means of a brush, to every joint and crevice. Brush the crevices in the floor and skirting board if they are suspected places: whitewash the ceiling, putting in plenty of alum, and there will be an end to their dropping thence.

DEPARTED.—Every season brings its changes, as well in the location of individuals as in their appearance. Among those whom it has removed from our midst this spring, we record with regret the name of our young friend, J. E. Barchinell, who has left us to sojourn for a time with parents at Hollidaysburg, previous to taking his departure on a tour of observation, designed to benefit his health. We wish him all the prosperity and pleasure his heart desires, believing that he fully understands how to "paddle his own canoe."

LOCAL CORRESPONDENCE.

HOLLIDAYSBURG, April 19, '59.

MESSRS EDITORS:—On Tuesday last, Mr. Jno. Wachob, while engaged in plowing in the field near the old Bennington Railroad, observed that the sod had been replaced; and upon examining the place, discovered a segar-box, containing the body of an infant. Information was immediately given to Esquire Cox, who held an inquest upon it. A post-mortem examination was made by Dr. Hayes. He examined the lungs of the infant and gave the opinion that the child had never breathed, and its death was caused by abortion. He thought its age was about six months. The perpetrators of this crime are unknown, but we trust that means will be taken to discover them, and bring them to justice.

On Monday the 11th inst., the regular monthly Concert of the Sabbath Schools of this place, was held in the Methodist Church. The attendance was very large and the meeting very interesting. The exercises were conducted by Rev. J. H. C. Dosh, who introduced a new feature among the devotional performances. It was the discussion of different subjects connected with the interests of Sabbath Schools. Three questions were discussed by several members of various schools, and gave great interest to the meeting. The children were very attentive during the exercises, and all appeared to be pleased. The next monthly Concert will be held in the Lutheran Church, and the exercises will be conducted by Rev. L. Knight

On Friday evening last, the regular monthly meeting of the Sabbath School Association, consisting of officers and teachers, was held in the Presbyterian Church. The Association was called to order by the President, after which prayer was offered by Rev. Taylor. The remaining part of the evening was principally spent in the discussion of the question, "How can parents best promote the interests of Sabbath Schools." The subject was discussed by Revs. Dosh and Knight, Messrs. Brotherline, Jones, Sharar and Martin. After a short address by Rev A. H. Taylor on the same subject, the meeting adjourned by the singing of the Doxology and Benediction by Rev. J. H. C. Dosh. The attendance of the members of the Association was much larger than on the previous meeting, and all appeared to be well pleased with the meeting.

THE BALL OF FASHION is still open, and the Proprietor, in returning thanks to his numerous customers for their liberal patronage bestowed on him since his commencement, here desires to say (without fear of contradiction) that he is prepared to offer for their inspection the best assortment of handsome DRESS GOODS, SHAWLS, CLOAKS, WHITE GOODS, &c., &c., that can be found in Altoona.

Respectfully, &c., C. J. MANN.

Dalley's Magical Pain Extractor.

In all diseases inflammation more or less predominates—now to allay inflammation strikes at the root of disease—hence an immediate cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR, and nothing else, will allay inflammation at once, and make a certain cure.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR will cure the following among a great catalogue of diseases: Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Chafes, Sore Nipples, Corns, Bunions, Bruises, Sprains, Bites, Poison, Chilblains, Bilesy Scrofula, Ulcers, Fever Sores, Felons, Ear Ache, Piles, Sore Eyes, Gout, Swellings, Rheumatism, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Baldness, Erysipelas, Ringworm, Barbers' Itch, Small Pox, Measles, Rash, &c., &c.

To some it may appear incredulous that so many diseases should be reached by one article; such an idea will vanish when reflection points to the fact, that the salve is a combination of ingredients, each and every one applying a perfect antidote to its opposite disorder.

DALLEY'S MAGICAL PAIN EXTRACTOR

In its effects is magical, because the time is so short between disease and a permanent cure; and it is an extractor, as it draws all disease out of the affected part, leaving nature as perfect as before the injury. It is scarcely necessary to say that no house, work-shop, or manufactory should be one moment without it.

No Pain Extractor is genuine unless the box has upon it a steel plate engraving, with the name of Henry Dalley, Manufacturer.

Sold by G. W. Kessler, Altoona; George A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg; and by all the Druggists and patent medicine dealers throughout the United States and Canadas.

HOWARD ASSOCIATION, PHILADELPHIA.

A Benevolent Institution, established by special endowment for the relief of the sick and distressed, afflicted with Virulent and Epidemic diseases.

The HOWARD ASSOCIATION, in view of the awful destruction of human life, caused by Sexual Diseases, and the deceptions practised upon the unfortunate victims of such diseases by Quacks, several years ago directed their Consulting Surgeon, as a charitable act worthy of their name, to open a Dispensary for the treatment of this class of diseases, in all their forms, and to give medical advice gratis, to all who apply by letter, with a description of their condition, (age, occupation, habits of life, &c.,) and in cases of extreme poverty and suffering, to furnish medicine free of charge. It is needless to add that the Association commands the highest Medical skill of the age, and will furnish the most approved modern treatment.

The directors of the Association, in their Annual Report upon the treatment of Sexual Diseases, express the highest satisfaction with the success which has attended the labors of the Consulting Surgeon in the cure of Spermatorrhœa, Seminal Weakness, Impotence, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Syphilis, the vice of Onanism or Self-abuse, &c., and order a continuance of the same plan for the ensuing year.

The Directors, on a review of the past, feel assured that their labors in this sphere of benevolent effort have been of great benefit to the afflicted, especially to the young, and they have resolved to devote themselves, with renewed zeal, to this very important and much neglected cause.

An admirable Report on Spermatorrhœa, or Seminal Weakness, the vice of Onanism, Masturbation, or Self-abuse, and other abuses of the sexual organs, by the Consulting Surgeon, will be sent by mail (in a sealed envelope,) FREE OF CHARGE, on receipt of TWO STAMPS for postage. Other Reports and Tracts on the nature and treatment of sexual diseases, &c., are constantly being published for gratuitous distribution, and will be sent to the afflicted. Some of the new remedies and methods of treatment discovered during the last year, are of great value.

Address, for Report or Treatment, Dr. GEORGE R. CALHOUN, Consulting Surgeon, Howard Association, No. 2 S. Ninth street, Philadelphia, Pa. By order of the Directors.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT.—For Inflammatory Diseases only.

DR. COGGSWELL'S NEW MEDICAL SALT, instead of being a remedy for all ills, has but one aim, and accomplishes but one thing, to wit: Subdues inflammatory disease, whether it be in form or locality. This it does by equalizing the circulation, thereby removing the sole cause of inflamation.

RHEUMATISM, NEURALGIA, Headache, Fits, Colds, Fevers, Inflamed Throat, Lungs, and Liver, Female Diseases Erysipelas, Bronchitis, Pleurisy, Asthma, Dyspepsia, Venereal Diseases, Gout, Scrofula, Cankers and all other forms of Inflammation are easily subdued by the New Medical Salt.

THE NEW MEDICAL SALT, is no CURE-ALL, but does just what it claims to do—no more, no less—equalizes the circulation by removing from the system all arterial and venous obstructions.

MULTITUDES HAVE TRIED the virtues of the New Medical Salt, though but lately discovered and introduced. Witness the testimonials and certificates of cure.

ALL WHO HAVE USED IT acknowledge a benefit from it.—An acquaintance of ours was cured of a severe case of Neuralgia in less than a week.

YOUR INVALUABLE MEDICINE is nobly fulfilling, in my case, all the promises which you made for it. A few doses also relieved my mother of a rush of blood to the head.

J. P. GILLINGHAM, Phila.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM was my complaint. The first package did the work effectually, as not a vestige of Rheumatism is left. G. H. DUNCAN, New York.

I KNOW IT IS GOOD for Rheumatism, removing it in a few hours. I am now trying it for Scrofula and have already received benefit. S. LESSIG, Reading.

I TRIED IT FOR ANEURISM of the Abdominal Aorta. In ten days the pain was gone. T. W. FITZIMONS, M. D., Phila.

WE SPEAK BY THE BOOK. We have tried it. It has complete control over inflamation.

BRONCHITIS, CANKER, Rheumatism, and Neuralgia have been cured by it.

MANY MORE WOULD TESTIFY, if necessary. Descriptive Circulars, with testimonials may be obtained from any Druggists who has this valuable medicine for sale.

THE NEW MEDICAL SALT IS FOR SALE in Altoona, by A. Roush; Geo. A. Jacobs, Hollidaysburg, and by all enterprising druggists wherever the "Tribune" is read. GREAT IMPROVEMENT IN COOKING STOVES.

CONSUMPTION OF SMOKE AND GAS AND SAVING OF FUEL.

The subscriber takes pleasure in offering to the public a NEW GAS AND SMOKE CONSUMING

Cooking Stove, recently patented, which is destined to supercede all others, as it requires

than other stoves and is more easily, quickly and regularly heated. No unpleasant smell of gas arises from this stove from the fact that it is all consumed ere it can escape. There is no trouble from smoke as that unpleasant and often annoying exhalation is also consumed inside of the stove. Neither is there any danger of flues or chimneys becoming clogged with soot or the mortar loosened by the gas arising from coal fires.

Persons wishing to purchase stoves are invited to call at the store of the subscriber, in the Masonic Temple, and examine the above stoves. JOHN SHOEMAKER, Sole Agent for Blair County.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR!

PREPARED BY DR. SANFORD,

COMPOUNDED ENTIRELY FROM GUMS,

is one of the best Purgative and Liver Medicines now before the public, that acts as a Cathartic, easier, milder and more effectual than any other medicine known. It is not only a Cathartic, but a Liver remedy, acting first on the Liver to eject its morbid matter, then on the stomach and bowels to carry off that matter, thus accomplishing two purposes effectually, without any of the painful feelings experienced in the operations of most Cathartics. It strengthens the system at the same time that it purges it; and when taken daily in moderate doses, will strengthen and build it up with unusual rapidity.

The LIVER is one of the principal regulators of the human body; and when it performs its functions well, the powers of the system are fully developed. The stomach is almost entirely dependent on the healthy action of the Liver for the proper performance of its functions; when the stomach is sound, and the whole system suffers in consequence—having ceased to do its duty. For the diseases of that organ, one of the proprietors has made it his study, is a practice of more than twenty years, to find counteract the many deliable remedy to prove that this remedy is at last found, any person troubled with LIVER COMPLAINT, in any of its forms, has but to try a bottle, and conviction is certain.

These Gums remove all the morbid or bad matter from the system, supplying in their place a healthy flow of bile, invigorating the stomach, causing food to digest well, PURIFYING THE BLOOD, giving tone and health to the whole machinery, removing the cause of the disease—effecting a radical cure.

BILIOUS ATTACKS are ENGENDERED, by the occasional use of the LIVER INVIGORATOR.

One dose after eating is sufficient to relieve the stomach from rising and souring. One dose taken before retiring, prevents morbid or bad matter from night, loosens the bowels, makes digestion easy. A meal will cure Dyspepsia. A spoonful will always remove the most obstruction removes and makes a perfect cure. It always relieves Cholic, while it is a sure cure for CHOLERA. One dose often repeated is needed to throw out of the system the effects of medicine after a long sickness. JAUNDICE removes all sallowness from the skin. One dose taken before eating gives vigor to the appetite, and makes the food digest well. One dose often repeated cures Chronic Diarrhœa in its worst forms, while Summer and Bowel complaints yield almost to the first dose. One or two doses cures attacks caused by WORMS in children: there is no surer, safer, or speedier remedy in the world, as it never fails. A few bottles cures Dropsy by exciting the absorbents to healthy action. We take pleasure in recommending this medicine as a preventive for Fever and Ague, Chill Fever, and all Fevers of a Bilious type, and thousands are willing to testify to its wonderful virtues.

All who use it are giving their unanimous testimony in its favor.

☞ Milk Water in the mouth with the Invigorator, and swallow both together.

THE LIVER INVIGORATOR IS A SCIENTIFIC MEDICAL DISCOVERY, and is daily working cures, almost too great to believe. It cures as if by magic, even the first dose giving benefit, and seldom more than one bottle is required to cure any kind of Liver Complaint, from the worst Jaundice or Dyspepsia to a common Headache, all of which are the result of a DISEASED LIVER.
